there are three fundamental issues in the field of screen translation namely the relationship between verbal output and pictures and soundtrack between a foreign language culture and the target language culture and finally between the spoken code and the written one all three issues are raised and discussed by contributors to this special issue of the translator the topics covered include the following the use of multimodal transcription for the analysis of audiovisual data the depiction and reception of cultural otherness in disney animated films produced in the 1990 s the way in which subtitles in flanders strengthen the already streamlined narratives of mainstream film stories and how they enhance the characteristics of the films and their underlying ideology developing a research methodology for testing the effectiveness of intralingual subtitling for the deaf and hard of hearing the pragmatic semiotic and communicative dimensions of puns and plays on words in the simpsons the reception of translated humour in the marx brothers film duck soup and non professional interpreting in live interviews on breakfast television in finland the volume also includes a detailed profile of two postgraduate courses that have been successfully piloted and run at the universitat autònoma de barcelona the postgrado de traducción audiovisual and the postgrado de traducción audiovisual on line this book examines audiovisual translation avt practices that fall outside conventional avt norms drawing on work from relevance theory to highlight alternative perspectives and make the case for a multidisciplinary approach to avt the volume focuses on creative subtitling otherwise known as text on screen through the lens of relevance theory a cognitively grounded theory of communication sasamoto explores the ways in which a relevance theoretic approach can provide an analytical framework for a better understanding of the interaction between text on screen and viewers interpretation processes and in turn how media producers professional or otherwise use text on screen to engage viewers in innovative ways the volume looks at such forms as telop creative text use on screen and forms of user generated text on screen the book introduces a new dimension to work on cognitive pragmatics and the wider applications of relevance theory in multimodal communication and avt making it of interest to scholars in these disciplines this book is a multidisciplinary study of the translation and localisation of video games it offers a descriptive analysis of the industry understood as a global phenomenon in entertainment and aims to explain the norms governing present industry practices as well as game localisation processes additionally it discusses particular translation issues that are unique to the multichannel nature of video games in which verbal and nonverbal signs must be cohesively combined with interactivity to achieve maximum playability and immerse players in the game s virtual world although positioned within the theoretical framework of descriptive translation studies bernal merino incorporates research from audiovisual translation software localisation computer assisted translation comparative literature and video game production moving beyond this framework translation and localisation in video games challenges some of the basic tenets of translation studies and proposes changes to established and unsatisfactory processes in the video game and language services industries this book sets out to establish the state of the art of screen translation and at the same time to underscore the work of scholars following new paths of investigation both in terms of innovative linguistic mediations being examined and pioneering experimental design the volume includes descriptions of sophisticated electronic databases and corpora of audiovisual products for the big and small screen and the rationale behind them furthermore between text and image also includes a number of cutting edge studies in audience perception of audiovisual products finally the volume does not fail to ignore examples of original research carried out from both a traditional linguistic viewpoint and from a more cultural perspective p 4 de la couv selected papers from the third language international conference on translator and interpreter training capping the series of conferences on this theme in denmark the present volume brings together a choice selection of the papers read by scholars and teachers from five continents and within all specialities in translation studies in combination with the two previous volumes of the same title the book offers an up to date comprehensive representative overview focusing on main issues in teaching in the relatively new field of translation there are informed and incisive discussions of subtitling interpreting and translation spanning from its historical beginnings to presentations of machine translation and predictions of the future of translation work contributions ranging from discussions on the interplay between theory and teaching teaching literary translation introducing students to central issues in translation practice and historical and social issues in teaching translation
